

Former students of El Camino college who wish to be included on the regular mailing list of the Alumni News were being paged this week by Marjo Strobel, president of the alumni group.

Currently planning homecoming activities for the alums, Miss Strobel, a resident of Redondo Beach, is working in conjunction with the co-chairman of Homecoming Day, Miss Pat Fickett and Clay White. The college event is scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, November 28.

News of special features of interest to alums will be included in the Alumni News, edited by Mrs. Lois Howsley, of WALTERIA, a member of the college press bureau.

Miss Strobel cautioned ECC graduates that most students who received copies of the initial publication of the News last spring will not get the second edition unless they forward their name and correct address to the office of the college coordinator of public relations.

The News will be sent free of charge to former students who request it, the alumni chairman noted. Requests should be mailed to W. A. Kamrath, El Camino College, El Camino, Calif., she added.

Anyone who has completed 25 or more units at El Camino is eligible to receive the paper and to join the Alumni Association, Miss Strobel announced. She also urged those forwarding addresses to give a brief account of their activities and of those of friends for use in future publications.

To be included in the next mailing, alums must mail their requests prior to November 14, the alum officer concluded.
